Capgemini recognized as a 'Leader' in Application Modernization and Multicloud Managed Services by independent research firm

Paris, April 2, 2025 - Capgemini today announced that it has been named a 'Leader' in The Forrester Wave™: Application Modernization and Multicloud Managed Services, Q1 2025. As per the report Capgemini received the highest score possible in 13 criteria, including AI/Machine Learning, collaboration, strategic advisory services, and modernization and migration services.

The report states that Capgemini stands out for its strategic advisory and application and infrastructure managed services, with particular strength in applications modernization and notable cloud managed services capabilities.

Clients praise Capgemini's high-quality solution engineers, collaborative approach, and proactive issue resolution. The report also states that Capgemini received top marks for supporting services with a strong program for sustainability, superior talent strategy, and its growing focus on Gen AI.

"We believe Forrester's recognition of Capgemini as a leader in Application Modernization and Multicloud Managed Services reflects our focus on delivering business outcomes that exceed our clients' expectations. Our strengths from strategic advisory to large scale implementation, in partnership with hyperscalers, underscore our capability to drive sustainable and transformational programs for our clients," said Pierre-Yves Glever, Head of Global Cloud & Custom Applications at Capgemini.

In the report, Bill Martorelli, Principal Analyst and report author writes, "Capgemini is a transformational player with an increasing focus on outcome-based relationships."
