

Capgemini SAP Managed Mobility: flexible, efficient, and on demand.

Your business. Always on.

Capgemini offers a complete suite of world-class, end-to-end SAP® enterprise mobility solutions in a managed services environment — delivering financial flexibility, increased ease of use, and accelerated time-to-value for companies worldwide

Business without boundaries

With the fourth wave of computing fully underway, the enterprise workforce is mobilizing and the benefits are proving themselves in the bottom line. From overall increased productivity to data accuracy and the immediate availability of information, business is becoming streamlined and profits are soaring. The challenges of business are changing and the ability to complete tasks anywhere, anytime is what sets companies and employees apart from the competition.

What moves your business?

Consumer-based devices such as smart phones and tablets are changing the way people communicate in their personal lives and they are also changing the way we do business. Communication is instant, questions are answered, decisions are made, and the world is moving at a faster rate. So what stands in the way of companies embracing such productivity?

Security: When it comes to security, the introduction of various mobile devices into a network is concerning. CIOs and IT administrators worldwide are looking to innovation for a secure means to provide employees with the tools they need.

Realize the benefits of mobility.

The enterprise mobility you've always wanted is now within reach. Together with SAP, Capgemini provides mobile solutions capable of delivering easy access to SAP applications on mobile devices, from anywhere, at anytime – all for a lower total cost of ownership. Customer benefits include:

- Achieving data quality, accuracy, and completeness
- Streamlining data flow, while reducing manual intervention
- Improving planning and resource utilization
- Leveraging investments in SAP solutions
- Meeting the current and future needs of the business

Support: IT departments are now tasked with delivering access securely across a variety of devices and operating systems. The rapidly changing technical landscape has CIOs and IT administrators looking for a platform to help manage this demand.

Return on Investment: Because technology is always evolving, it's important to roll out new solutions quickly and easily, with flexible financing options.

A world of opportunity

Capgemini, in cooperation with SAP AG, is answering the call to bring secure mobile solutions to enterpriselevel businesses. By utilizing a Capgemini Enterprise Managed Mobility package in support of SAP® solutions, companies are finding a flexible, efficient, and on-demand means to implement device management and application platform management with high levels of security and control.

More benefits, less risk

Imagine getting all the benefits of mobility at a fixed monthly cost. With a Capgemini Enterprise Managed Mobility package, you can enjoy the benefits of a world-class enterprise mobility solution while eliminating up-front capital expenditures.

Proven technology, quicker ROI

Companies worldwide are finding quicker time-to-value by utilizing the proven technology of Capgemini for their managed mobility needs. By leveraging an existing infrastructure, extensive experience, proven business-process best practices, and flexible financing - payback is faster and mobility is possible bringing with it productivity gains.

Less complexity, faster implementation

When you leverage a Capgemini Enterprise Managed Mobility package in support of SAP applications, you can move right to implementation. We've already built the systems, partnered with SAP, and developed packages that can be implemented immediately or customized to conform to your company's needs. Finally, a single-source mobility solution is within reach.

Capgemini and SAP

Our partnership with SAP fosters innovation and collaboration, and provides our team with the deep experience needed to support the entire SAP solution suite. In fact, as one of the world's foremost providers of consulting, technology, and outsourcing services, Capgemini is proud to have been awarded a 2011 SAP Pinnacle award in the "Global Partner Service Innovator" category. This prestigious honor is a perfect example of Capgemini's commitment to and efforts in developing and growing its partnership with SAP and driving customer success.

Capgemini offers a complete suite of SAP solutions globally, with multiple options to meet our customers' needs.

Three great package options to mobilize your company

When you leverage a Capgemini Enterprise Managed Mobility package, you get the immediate implementation of best-in-class, single-source mobility solutions proven to perform. From device-management solutions to application-implementation platforms, Capgemini can deliver solutions designed to keep business moving.

Option 1- Sybase Afaria® device-management solution

Reduce costs, increase IT efficiency, and improve the productivity of mobile workers with an integrated solution that proactively manages and secures mobile data, devices, and applications. It includes the Afaria solution and related maintenance, Capgemini hosting, and Capgemini implementation services.

Option 2- Sybase® Unwired Platform

Simply and quickly develop applications that connect business data to mobile workers on any device. Built on proven, industry-leading technology, you can now manage multiple mobile applications across the entire organization through this consistent and highly adaptable development platform. The scope and pricing for this offer need to be finalized based on the customer's requirements, but the low monthly user fee includes the Sybase Unwired Platform solution and related maintenance, Capgemini hosting and Capgemini implementation services, and a basic application.

Option 3- Sybase Unwired Platform Plus More

Includes the Sybase Unwired Platform plus a high-value application that Capgemini and/or SAP builds, and will add functionality on an ongoing basis. The scope and pricing for this offer will be finalized based on your company's requirements.

Proven results from a single source

When you leverage a Capgemini Enterprise Managed Mobility package, you get immediate implementation of a single-source mobility solution proven to perform. With only one hand to shake, a new relationship is formed to provide the support you need and can trust to keep your business moving. And with over 20 years experience navigating technology and a solid partnership with SAP, Capgemini has become a trusted partner to companies worldwide.
