

Dynamics AX

ERP the way you've always wanted it: flexible and agile, connecting people - anytime, anywhere - through Microsoft technologies

“We’re a mid-sized and growing business in a highly competitive industry. Being ‘quick on our feet’ really matters. That’s why Dynamics AX is perfect for us.”

Microsoft Dynamics AX is a powerful, robust ERP solution that drives useful information to the technologies people like, know and use every day: SharePoint, Excel, Word and Outlook.

Just imagine an ERP solution that’s delivered in ways that are both intuitive and familiar:

- The technology itself promotes and enhances collaboration: You can engage and leverage the productivity and creativity of all your employees, as well as customers and suppliers.
- The system is flexible and agile: The product can be tailored to fit the company-specific, differentiating processes that define the value you deliver.
- The “look and feel” of the solution eliminates resistance and frustration: With more and better content in a format that’s easy-to-use, user adoption is broadened.
- Employees can readily track trends in the marketplace, in economies, and in environments: Your business can quickly take advantage of new and emerging opportunities.
- The solution incorporates leading practices from both the industry and your company’s own operations: Processes are streamlined, productivity improved, and costs reduced.

People matter. results count.

“Faster to value” – That’s what Capgemini delivers with Dynamics AX

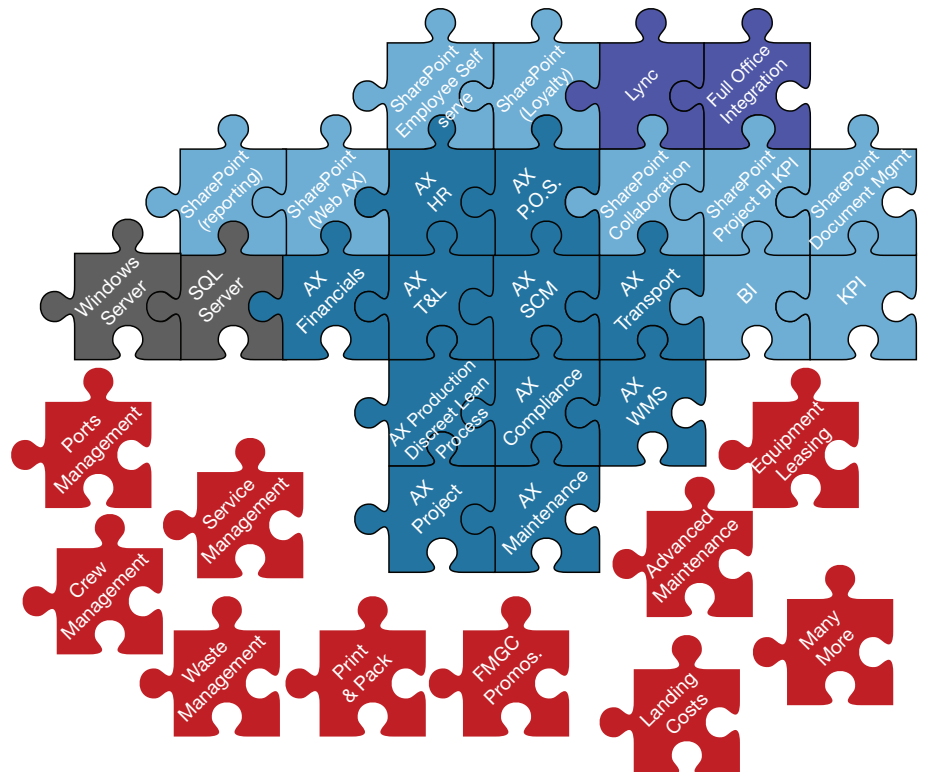

Dynamics AX is not an “in the box” ERP system: The solution you get will fit your unique business. In fact, Dynamics AX is designed to be adapted and adjusted to match your business needs. Implement a lot of modules or only a few (see chart): The choice is yours.

As a mixed-mode ERP solution, Dynamics AX supports both discrete and process manufacturing, while leveraging industry and company-specific leading practices through a business process library. Also, many third-party modules can extend or add to your solution’s functionality.

Since Dynamics AX is integrated with SharePoint, Excel, Word and Outlook, the implementation process — from configuration through Day One — is quick and risk is reduced.

Add up these advantages and you get an investment that quickly shows value — in creating an ecosystem of collaboration across organization silos, processes, and geographies; in bolstering productivity and lowering costs; and in giving people the insights they need to work effectively in dynamic, global markets where the ability to respond can be a game changer.

Why Capgemini?

- We are probably the only global consulting company that has made Dynamics AX part of our core business. That means we can deliver a better solution and measurable value faster.
- We leverage Microsoft products to include built-in collaboration and built-in document management; our solution is fully integrated with MS Office.
- Our accelerator tools and large ecosystem of vertical solutions speed up an implementation.
- Our clients get highly qualified technologists and more. With our vision, industry depth, intellectual property, business acumen, and go-to-market capability, we tailor each solution for optimal performance in industry-specific and company-specific processes.
- We support an implementation, easily expanding or enhancing Dynamics AX in response to changing business needs.

A formidable team: Capgemini and Microsoft

Dynamics AX is part of Capgemini's Global Initiative for ERP Innovation. In fact, Microsoft considers Capgemini the "go to" partner for this solution. In addition to our history of best-of-breed integration solutions, Capgemini has a deep relationship with Microsoft:

- Capgemini and Microsoft have been partners since 1997
- Our 24,000 MS specialists worldwide have worked on 16,000+ projects in the past five years
- Capgemini is 1 of only 3 enterprises to win Microsoft's Enterprise Partner of the Year award; awarded in 2010
- Capgemini is recognized by Microsoft as a premier global system integrator
- Capgemini is a member of the Presidents Club and the Inner Circle
- We serve on advisory group for MS products
