Caroline Segerstéen Runervik appointed new CEO of Capgemini in the Nordics

Stockholm, April 10, 2024, Capgemini announces the appointment of Caroline Segerstéen Runervik as the new CEO of Capgemini in the Nordics. Caroline succeeds Anil Agarwal who will focus solely on his role as Group Sales Officer for Capgemini's Northern and Central Europe Strategic Business Unit. Both appointments take effect on 1st May 2024.

"Caroline brings a wealth of expertise to her new role. Her proven track record in driving revenue growth across industries and her passion for change and people management makes Caroline the perfect fit to lead our Nordics operations. I am confident that Caroline will be instrumental in strengthening our position as a trusted business and technology transformation partner for our clients," says Michael Schulte, CEO of Capgemini's Northern Europe Strategic Business Unit and Group Executive Board member. "I'd also like to thank Anil Agarwal for his contribution over the past six years. He's been instrumental in driving growth in the Nordics with a focus on developing new industry segments and delivering outstanding client value. Anil will continue to play a central role to drive growth for Capgemini across the region and win market share".

"I am very proud and honoured by this opportunity to lead Capgemini in the Nordics and continue to build on our strong position. It will be vital for Nordic organizations to accelerate the dual transition to a digital and sustainable world. As a trusted strategic partner, Capgemini is well-placed to support clients on this journey, providing first-class business, technological and industry expertise," says Caroline Segerstéen Runervik, newly appointed CEO of Capgemini in the Nordics. "Capgemini has the unique capabilities to address the entire breadth of business needs, from strategy and design to engineering and data and artificial intelligence. We will continue to focus on further developing our client-centric approach to offer Nordic organisations end-to-end services, helping clients accelerate innovation to create sustainable business value."
