– NEWS ALERT –

Capgemini Receives “Strong Positive” Rating for Business Intelligence in Gartner’s MarketScope in Western Europe Report

Paris, June 6 2013 – Capgemini, one of the world’s foremost providers of consulting, technology and outsourcing services, today announced that it has received the highest rating “Strong Positive” for Business Intelligence in Gartner’s report entitled, “MarketScope for Business Intelligence and Information Management Services in Western Europe”.<sup>1</sup>

Gartner defines “Strong Positive” as a provider of strategic products, services or solutions where existing customers have shown they are continuing with planned investment and potential customers consider this vendor as a strong choice for strategic investments.

Paul Nannetti, Group Sales and Portfolio Director at Capgemini said: “We believe Gartner’s “strong positive” rating speaks volumes about the company’s strategic investments in creating a thought leadership position and a broad base of capabilities in Business Information Management. We have closely collaborated with our key technology partners to expand our presence in key sectors by developing new, integrated solutions tailored to our clients’ specific business information needs.”

Capgemini’s Global Business Information Management (BIM) Service Line has over 8,000 BIM consultants in 36 countries, with a global Center of Excellence in Mumbai, India, where it showcases the Customer BIM Experience (CUBE) to demonstrate its analytics solutions. The BIM Service Line provides services and solutions for managing all of an organization’s business information, both structured and unstructured, from high level strategy and architecture to core data management.
