Capgemini singled out for its expertise in end-to-end services

New York, Paris June 29, 2015 – Capgemini, one of the world’s foremost providers of consulting, technology and outsourcing services, today announced it has been chosen by CIO Review as one of its 20 Most Promising Enterprise Risk Management Solution Providers for 2015. Capgemini was selected by CIO Review, a Fremont, California-based technology magazine, based on the publication’s evaluation of its risk and compliance expertise. Capgemini was commended for its ability to help clients create a high-definition of risk across the entire enterprise and to map the balance sheet to risk type.
