

Engineering for the Future of Mobility

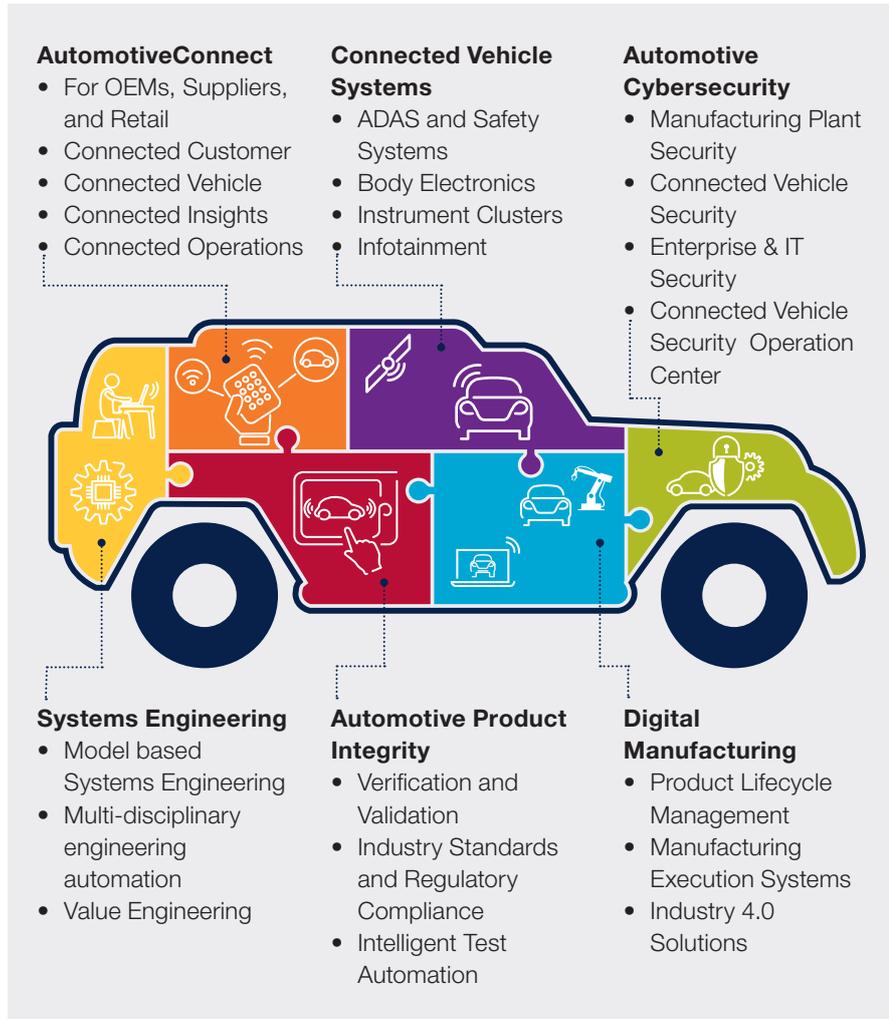

We provide multi-disciplinary engineering solutions for connected mobility of today and of the future

Digitization and rapid advances in technology have revolutionized the industrial and social panorama, and Automotive is no exception. In fact, one can say that a large part of the 'Fourth Industrial Revolution' has its wheels rolling on the automotive industry. Studies indicate disruptive trends like diverse mobility, autonomous driving, electrification, and connectivity when coupled with customer needs and behavior, provide bases for overwhelming opportunities for the automotive market. However, regulatory policies, climate change, demand for personalized products and services, and inefficiencies in vehicle utilization are reshaping the value proposition in the sector.

As a global leader in automotive industry, Capgemini serves the entire automotive value chain from OEMs to Tier-1 suppliers to technology providers. Incorporating the technology shift and open innovation partnerships we build engineering solutions for successful products and services in the intelligent automotive ecosystem. Our agile way of working and a presence in all major automotive hubs across the globe helps us to develop organizational and technological structures to drive efficient and value-adding delivery of solutions.

Capgemini's approach for the automotive sector helps industry leaders create an advantage through intelligent combination of vehicle, customer and environment data for product engineering. We deliver cutting edge solutions through global delivery capabilities and automotive-specific service offerings across the value chain.

Capgemini works with 14 of the world's 15 largest vehicle OEMs and 12 of the 15 largest suppliers. Customers in USA, Europe, Japan and India
