

Technical upgrade or opportunity to transform? with Capgemini, Microsoft and SAP

Through our joint strategic engagement, we help you digitally transform using our combined capabilities and the power of Azure, while simplifying the process, minimizing risks and speeding up time to value.

Technical upgrade or opportunity to transform?

The move to SAP S/4HANA® provides significant advantages to businesses looking to improve their ERP, but this is only half the story. A huge amount of potential can be missed if the transition exercise is not approached in the right way.

Reactive organizations see the process as a necessary technical upgrade, but your ERP forms the digital backbone of your organization, updating it offers a once in a generation chance to modernize and transform your business. It's time to be pro-active, seize the opportunity and maximize SAP S/4HANA's potential with Azure.

Our strategic partnership

While enticing, undertaking such an exercise with multiple stakeholders can be complex, cumbersome and costly. The question then becomes, “how do I transform my organization, while making the journey as smooth as possible?” That’s why Capgemini, Microsoft and SAP have come together into a strategic partnership.

We bring together our solutions and capabilities to seize the SAP S/4HANA on Azure opportunity, so you have the ability to modernize and transform your business, while ensuring the journey getting there is simple, smooth and delivers maximum value, in minimum time.

The pillars of your journey

These four pillars help you strive towards a vision we call the ‘Renewable Enterprise’, where you are able to adapt and renew your business through high speed innovation while protecting mission critical applications that run your business.

Strategic roadmap

Set out a roadmap and develop market journeys that detail what is required to maximize the move to SAP S/4HANA on Azure, while identifying opportunities to modernize and transform.

Modern infrastructure
