a disruptor and a potential accelerator

Organizations view generative AI as both

Generative AI is a hot topic in boardrooms

84% A solid majority of respondents in our survey cite generative AI as a top agenda item in boardrooms

PERCENTAGE OF ORGANIZATIONS WHO AGREE WITH THE STATEMENT BY SECTOR

57%

generative AI as a disruptor Over half of Nordic organizations anticipate significant disruption

Most organizations view

for generative Al

38%

Nearly 4 out of 10 Nordic executives are strong advocates for generative AI

Leaders are strong advocates

Nearly half of the Nordic organizations have already begun to measure the effects

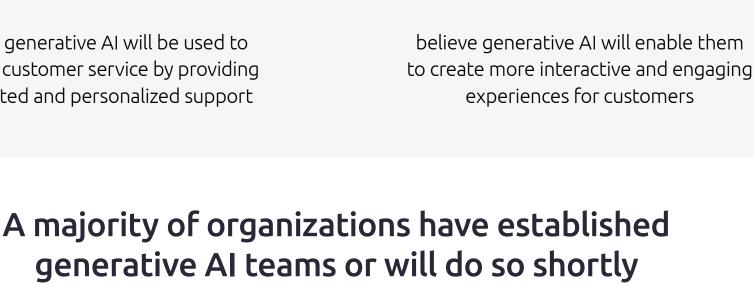

Organizations see practical benefits from,

and measure the effects of, generative AI

of organizations measure the benefits of generative AI

ANTICIPATED BENEFITS OF GENERATIVE AI EXTEND TO CUSTOMER SERVICE AND EXPERIENCE

34%

51%

47%

34%

31%

21%

23%

8%

7%

We have already established a dedicated team 28% and budget for its implementation

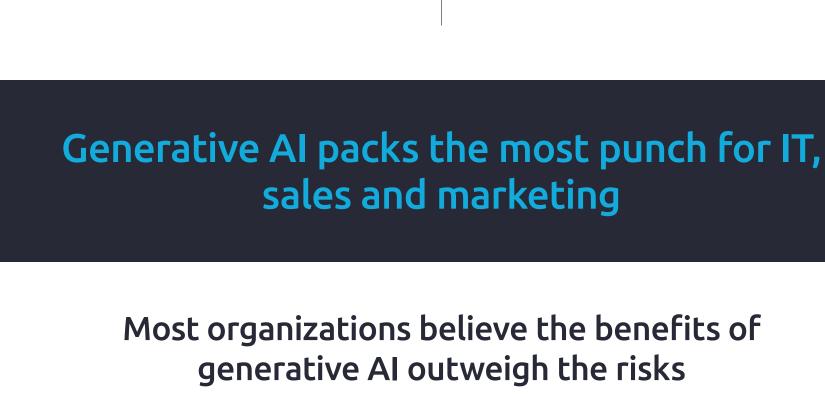

We are looking at establishing a dedicated team

We have not yet developed a concrete plan for integration

We are currently unsure if or how we will integrate generative AI

and budget for its implementation in this year

CURRENT LEVEL OF INTEGRATION OF GENERATIVE AI INTO THE ORGANIZATION'S FUTURE PRODUCT/SERVICE DEVELOPMENT PLANS

Other

(e.g. generation of code and automated testing) (e.g. optimizing sales support chatbots) Marketing and communications (e.g. creating personalized marketing campaigns) Operations

Logistics

Manufacturing (e.g. 3D modelling)

Risk management

(e.g. supply chain optimization)

(e.g. route optimization)

Product design / Research and development

(e.g. generating new design, faster drug discovery)

(e.g. drafting and reviewing legal and regulatory documents)

51%

of executives see the most potential for generative AI in the IT function

PERCENTAGE OF RESPONDENTS THAT SEE THE MOST POTENTIAL FOR GENERATIVE AI MODELS TO DRIVE INNOVATION AND CREATE VALUE FOR THEIR ORGANIZATION ACROSS BUSINESS FUNCTIONS

