

Capgemini's Cloud Transformation Program

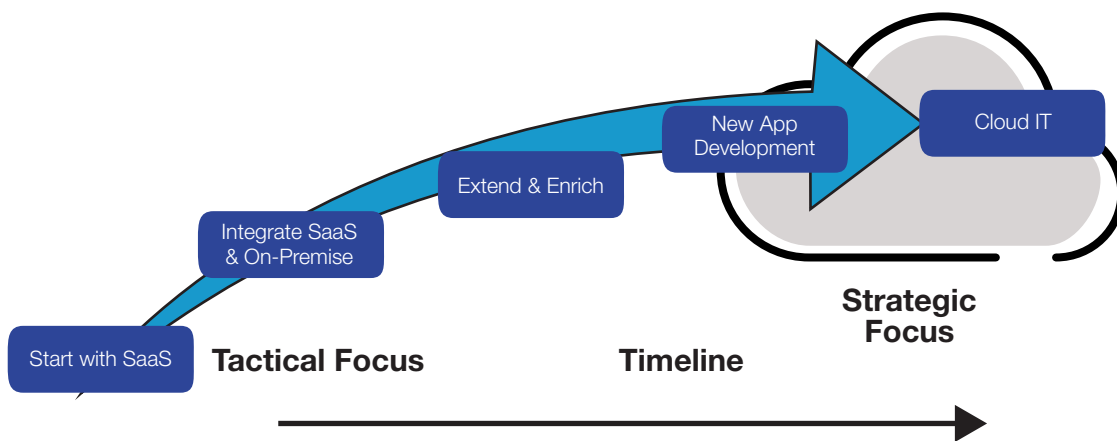

Many companies who have made the decision to move to the Cloud are still unsure of the path and need direction as to how to migrate to the Cloud. This journey can be confusing and overwhelming to some organizations.

The Capgemini Cloud Transformation Program guides customers on a path to the Cloud, focusing on Change Management and Best Practices.

What are the components of the Transformation Program?

The process starts with a Readiness Assessment of the customer for the Cloud. Then a detailed Journey-Roadmap exercise with the customer is held. The process involves walking through the path and outlining the critical business processes that can move to the Cloud. This roadmap focuses on both short-term and long-term.

Another key focus area is Master Data and Data Migration. Capgemini works with the customer to outline the process of re-structuring, cleansing, and importing applications into the Cloud. This process also includes a detailed analysis of integrations and interfaces to critical systems that will stay in place.

The final step is a detailed roadmap for the Cloud journey. Capgemini utilizes our Advantage solutions, which are pre-built templates and tools, to provide customers an accelerated solution to the Cloud.

Capgemini's Cloud Transformation Program provides the framework to guide customers on a successful journey to the cloud, focusing on key business processes, and keeping the process simple.
