Capgemini Named a Leading SAP Implementation Provider By Independent Research Firm

Report states “Capgemini offers a solid mix of technical expertise, strategy consulting, and ongoing maintenance, support, and hosting”

PARIS, September 30, 2009 – Capgemini, one of the world's foremost providers of consulting, technology and outsourcing services, today announced that it has been named a leader in an independent report about SAP Implementation Providers by Forrester Research, Inc.

Capgemini was among the selected companies that Forrester invited to participate in its August 10, 2009 report, “The Forrester Wave™ SAP Implementation Providers, Q3 2009,” which is primarily focused on implementation, and also includes some metrics around ongoing support and hosting related to SAP. The report assessed 18 SAP services providers across 60 criteria. In this evaluation, Capgemini was cited as a “leader” among global SAP Implementation Providers.

The Forrester report states that Capgemini (along with one other provider evaluated) “[offers a] strong mix of strategy consulting expertise — particularly around key industries — and the ability to deliver value for the money,”<sup>1</sup> and describes Capgemini in its vendor summary as follows:

“Capgemini offers a solid mix of technical expertise, strategy consulting, and ongoing maintenance, support, and hosting. The provider does a significant percentage of its work in EMEA, but also has strong presence across North America and Asia Pacific. Capgemini invests heavily in innovation around technical development such as cross-industry initiatives around SOA and its industry-specific “Ready-to-Run” prebuilt solutions.”<sup>1</sup>
