Capgemini receives two awards from HP

IT Application Implementation Partner of the Year

& Converged Infrastructure Solutions - Communications, Media and Entertainment

Paris, 12 July 2011 – Capgemini, one of the world’s foremost providers of consulting, technology, and outsourcing services, today announced it has won two awards from HP at HP DISCOVER Americas in the categories of ‘Converged Infrastructure Solutions - Communications, Media and Entertainment’ and ‘IT Application Implementation Partner of the Year’. The awards are presented to HP alliance partners in recognition of their outstanding accomplishments in the development and delivery of innovative solutions that achieve standard-setting levels for business excellence and client satisfaction.

In the ‘Converged Infrastructure Solutions’ category, Capgemini was recognized for its partnership with HP to deliver a solution that has revolutionized the supply chain of a major global media and entertainment company, helping it to meet the growing digital demands of its customers. The solution, which includes process automation, provides a way to create and distribute digital files to the company’s own downstream and the broader entertainment industry. Flexible and scalable, it has allowed the customer to respond to the changing TME environment and achieve cost savings.

This is the second time that Capgemini has been awarded ‘IT Application Implementation Partner of the Year’, recognized for demonstrating the delivery of business value. Capgemini won the award for its work with a global custodian bank in collaboratively deploying an enterprise-wide strategy to achieve testing standardization, internal adoption of automated testing solutions and realize expected ROI.

Raf Howery, Capgemini Group Vice President, Global Channels and Partners Executive said: “We are delighted to receive these important awards from HP. It endorses the strength of our relationship with HP as one of our strategic Alliance Partners and recognizes the value our implementation solutions provide to our global customers.”

“To manage the changing demands of their customers, organizations have to accelerate time to market and time to business value,” said Duncan Campbell, vice president, Converged Infrastructure, HP. “HP, with partners like Capgemini, helps break down rigid IT silos with infrastructure specifically engineered to drive out cost and provide the foundation for agile service delivery.”

Last year, in addition to the Application Implementation Partner of the Year Capgemini was also recognized as the HP Software Alliance Partner of the Year Award at HP Software Universe in Barcelona.
