Capgemini named a “Leader” by NelsonHall in its NEAT evaluation for Advanced Digital Workplace Services

Paris, November 9, 2020 – Capgemini announced today that it has been named a ‘Leader’ in the NelsonHall NEAT vendor evaluation for Advanced Digital Workplace Services for the ‘Overall’ market segment. Capgemini was identified as a Leader for its ability to meet future client requirements as well as delivering immediate benefits to its digital workplace services clients.

The report recognized Capgemini as a ‘Leader’ for demonstrating multiple strengths including: expanding the Connected Employee Experience centers to enable working scenarios across Connected Workspace and Connected Office; developing a Digital Operations Platform for infrastructure services, to drive analytics, automation, self-heal and proactive capabilities in support of workplace services; offering industry and digital transformation consulting skills; creating an Employee Experience Index \(EXI\) to combine capability measurements to improve the overall employee experience.

“We are delighted that NelsonHall has recognized Capgemini as a Leader in Advanced Digital Workplace Services. At Capgemini, we are committed to offering our clients comprehensive, flexible solutions with a sector specific and business-focused approach. Our commitment also extends to implementing solutions that offer our own employees opportunities to be more innovative with collaborative ways of working and to benefit from the best user experience,” said Nive Bhagat, CEO, Cloud & Infrastructure Services Global Business Line, and member of the Group Executive Committee at Capgemini.

According to the NEAT evaluation report, Capgemini supports the digital workplace transformation journey from network infrastructure, legacy systems and integration, through to hybrid cloud implementations. Through its solutions, organizations can provide the latest tools that their employees want, while also benefiting from cost savings through Capgemini's cloud-based solutions.

John Laherty, Senior Research Analyst at NelsonHall said, “Capgemini offers a comprehensive set of solutions to enable organizations to employ digital transformation to provide employees with next-generation collaboration solutions. We recognized Capgemini as a Leader for supporting new approaches to collaboration leveraging the latest solutions delivered with the best user experience, together with the highest levels of security.”
